Local Firm Will Continue Valuable Agency.

W. H. Windrow of this city has just closed a deal whereby he will continue to be agent for Zemo—the well known remedy for Eczema, Dandruff and all diseases of the skin and scalp.

The extraordinary leap that this clean liquid external treatment for skin affections has made into the public favor in the last few years proves its wonderful curative properties and makes it indeed a valuable addition to the fine stock of remedial agents carried by W. H. Windrow.

He has a limited supply of samples one of which will be given free to any skin sufferer who wishes to test the merit of the medicine. A booklet "How To Preserve The Skin," will also be given to those interested.

Costumes of Fish Skins.

Among the most wonderful garments worn at the present day are the curious fish skin dresses of the wealthy women of the Gold tribe, living along the Amur river, East Siberia. Though they can neither read nor write these people are producing astonishing ornaments, designs and embroidery work.

The dress is composed of several layers of fish skin, the undermost representing the skin of the garment proper, the uppermost showing the ornaments in their cut-out forms. Between these two layers is inserted a middle layer, which serves as a background, throwing out distinctly all parts of the ornaments. The pieces of fish skin forming the ornaments are generally colored blue. The front and back of the dress is adorned with these cut-out pieces of fish skin sewed with fish skin thread—Christian Herald.

Caring For Children.

The care of children is the most important duty that older people ever have thrust upon them, for upon these little ones depends the future of the world. Health is the first requisite to attain success, so be careful regarding the health of your children. For constipation, indigestion, liver trouble, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, nervousness, etc., you will find nothing better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is absolutely guaranteed to do what we claim, and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by all dealers at 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

Birds Killed in Migration.

According to advices from the Caucasus millions of singing birds which every winter used to find a warm retreat on the southern slopes of the forest clad mountains of the Caucasus have suddenly been surprised by the intense cold and severe snowstorms while they were on their way from the north.

The slides of the mighty mountains, the highest in Europe, and the shores of the Black sea are now strewn with small corpses of singing birds, especially bulfinches, goldfinches, robin redbreasts, fly-catchers and other birds which in the summer mostly visit these shores.

Happy Homes.

Unhappiness and poverty in families is often due to constant sickness. Disease usually starts somewhere in the stomach or intestines, and if you will take a remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at the first approach of chronic constipation, indigestion, liver trouble, sick headache, etc., you are very sure not to have a serious disease. The remedy is absolutely guaranteed to do what we claimed and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by all dealers at 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

Perfection a Rarity.

Some men are criticised because they wear side whiskers, yet no man on earth is within a hundred miles of being perfect.

I am heartily glad to tell you of

Stomach Blood and Liver Troubles

Much sickness starts with weak stomach, and consequent poor, impoverished blood. Nervous and pale-people lack good, rich, red blood. Their stomachs need invigorating for, after all, a man can be no stronger than his stomach. A remedy that makes the stomach strong and the liver active, makes rich red blood and overcomes and drives out disease-producing bacteria and cures a whole multitude of diseases.

Get rid of your Stomach Weakness and Liver Laziness by taking a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery - the great Stomach Restorative, Liver Invigorator and Blood Cleanser.

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

The Misses Clara Haegelin and Athalia Reus happened to a painful accident Wednesday evening. It seems the two young ladies were some distance away from the house and when ready to start home they mounted a horse. The animal became uncontrollable and ran away and while turning a corner near the house threw both its riders to the ground. They both sustained painful bruises about their faces. Medical aid was at once summoned, and at this

The Sisters.
"What a dainty little person Miss Bookings is!" exclaimed a very young man at an East end reception one Monday afternoon.
"Yes," agreed his companion, laconically.
"Such a lithe, perfect figure! And those beautiful little hands! Surely no manicurist could produce an effect like that; it must come from nature aided by rest."
"I guess so."
"But here's something I've always noticed. See that gaunt awkward girl standing beside her? Girls always get some ugly person to show them off by contrast. Look at the big red hands of the second one. Ain't it fierce? Who's that fright, anyhow?"
"That's Miss Bookings' older sister. She washes and irons Miss Bookings' party gowns for her.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"I suppose," said the heiress' father, "you have assured my daughter that you will grant her every wish." "No," replied Baron Fucash, "I will not misrepresent my financial resources. But I will do my best to be of service." "In what way?" "I will help her to wish."

It is still very dry and hot. Cotton and all vegetation in black land is burning up. Can't see why the "Drys" would want the country still drier.

The Dak Bungalow.
The Dak bungalow of India is a blessed institution for the weary Dak, as the natives call the traveler. He finds these little shelters dotted over many of the out-of-the-way parts of the country, generally not more than one long day's march apart. They mean warmth when one has been chilled to the bone by biting winds, or shelter from the driving rain and hail storms, the latter so common in northern India that planters insure their crops against them, and so violent that both men and cattle are often killed by them. The bungalows usually consist of two bedrooms and a dining room, with rough outside buildings providing a kitchen and sheds for horses and coolies. After our life in the untrodden forests of South America it was camping de luxe.—Harper's Magazine.

Fretful babies need the comforting effect of McGee's Baby Elixir. It quiets feverishness, corrects sour stomach, cures colic pains and checks diarrhoea. Life is extraordinarily interesting. It is a splendid thing to be born; it is a splendid thing to live.—The Bishop of Southwell.

The Texas Banks

Money is the blood of commerce and our banks are the heart of our financial system. They are a necessary and powerful factor in the state's development. Our politicians may agitate, our law givers legislate and our promoters enthuse over our industrial problems, but the banker is the man who passes final judgment and upon his decision rests the progress and destiny of the state.

Gen. Sam Houston's Views.

Gen. Sam Houston was opposed to banks and at the first Constitutional Convention introduced the following resolution: "No banking institution or office of discount and deposit or any other moneyed corporation or banking establishment shall ever exist under the constitution of Texas." General Houston defended the resolution on the floor of the convention, but lost. Since then our banking institutions have been growing rapidly.

Our Bankers.

The patriotism, ability and conservatism of the Texas bankers have protected, built up and directed the state's material growth, placing under our business institutions solid, substantial foundations and the financial fibre of the state is strong, vigorous and sufficiently elastic to care for our big problems in development.

Our Banks.

We have 527 national banks, 626 state banks, 174 private banks and five savings banks. The combined capital of the state and national banks is $63,483,500, surplus $76,135,031, undivided profit $9,383,505 and the deposits on June 1, 1910, $279,589,541. The figures on private banks are not of record and are, therefore, omitted in the above data. The amount on deposit in our banks is equal to $70 per capita.

Texas Investments.

No state in the Union can offer such opportunities for investment as Texas. The rapid increase in value of all Texas property and the many business opportunities which are afforded every individual renders investments safe and profitable. Our real estate increases in value approximately one million dollars per day and we have $700,000 of outside money coming into Texas daily.

The Texas Negro

The Texas negro is primarily a farmer and the race has made little progress in commerce, mechanics, science and art. Freedom has carried with it responsibilities which have weighed heavily upon the colored race and after a lapse of half a century of freedom they are still the "drawers of water and the hewers of stone." The young are dependent upon the white man for their education and the aged and infirm are his wards.

The Slave Negro.

In 1860 there were 158,395 slaves in Texas, rendered for assessment at $106,888,924, giving an average value per slave all ages of $672.71. The assessed value of all land in Texas at that time was $122,294,764. The slaves were almost equal in value to all farm property, constituting 36 per cent of the taxable wealth of the state. The state and county revenues derived from taxing slaves annually was approximately $1,000,000.

Taking into consideration the per cent of true value of property rendered for assessment in 1860, and the rate of interest prevailing at that time, we find the negroes of all ages producing a net revenue of $100 each per annum. Since the war the colored race in Texas has been able to accumulate approximately $75,000,000, which is equivalent to $2 each per annum while masters of their own destinies against a net production of $100 per annum when under the direct supervision of the white man.

The Free Negro.

In 1900 the census shows 670,777 negroes in Texas. They owned 85,536 farms, valued at $56,239,210. Their farms averaged fifty-nine acres each, although fifty-five negroes owned 1,000 acres and over. Over 86 per cent of our negro farmers raise cotton and 18 1/2 per cent of all the farmers in Texas are negroes.

There are 184,473 negro children of scholastic age in Texas who receive from our state school fund $4 per annum per scholar. We have 2,471 negro schoolhouses and the education of the negro costs $1,000,000 per annum. The average salary of the teacher in colored schools is $45.88. The school tax paid on property owned by the negro is approximately $60,000 per annum, leaving a net amount of $940,000 per annum given to the negro annually for educational purposes.

The educational and industrial advantages of the negro in Texas excel those of any other state.

When you feel dull, out of sorts, discouraged, half sick and everything seems to be going wrong, you can blame it on your liver. It is torpid. You need

HERBINE
A Medicine of Power in All Liver Disorders.

When the liver is torpid, it throws impurities into the system, which hamper every organ in the body. The result is that functional processes are not properly carried on. Impurities get into the blood, the stomach is bilious, the kidneys weak and the bowels irregular—generally constipated. Herbine clears out all these impurities, opens up the obstructed channels, strengthens the torpid liver, cleanses the blood, purifies and regulates the bowels. After the system has been thus overhauled, there is an immediate improvement. Appetite returns, digestion is good, the spirits rise, the mind clears of gloomy forebodings and everything looks bright and cheerful, which means, sound, healthy conditions everywhere in the body.

WE doff our hat to the Maverick box—22 votes solid for local self-government and personal liberty!

Medina County had over two hundred stay-at-homes Saturday. Had they all voted the amendment would have been beaten in the county by nearly three to one.

THE Hondo Anvil-Herald's "final word" on the late campaign filled two and a half columns.—San Antonio Express. If space had not failed us we would probably have made it a final "line"!

THE 32nd Legislature is called to meet in special session at Austin next Monday. The principal business will be the making of appropriations for carrying on the state government and the re-districting of the state under the 1910 census.

THE Hondo Anvil Herald says: Several of Devine's local option cases were again knocked into cocked hats in the County Court here this week. The Anvil Herald does not profess to know anything about the merits of these cases, but it does look to us like, that for the sake of the tax-payers who foot the bills, Devine should quit burdening the docket of our court with cases unless she can furnish the necessary evidence to convict.

Railway Time INSPECTION

Americans are the greatest travelers in the world. American railway service is the best in the world. American Railway Time Inspection is necessarily the most rigid in the world.

The South Bend Watch having been submitted to rigid examinations and a series of the most exacting tests conducted for this special purpose by some of the principal chief Railway Inspectors has not only fully met all requirements but has done so with a larger margin in its favor than has ever previously been secured by an equal number of watches.

V. A. CROW

THE Galveston News is the only daily paper that featured the booster business in Alpine. The News is a statewide newspaper. It is big enough to cover all Texas, and does it like a blanket. Here is an excerpt from The News report of the trip to the St. Stephens dam: "On the return trip some trouble was experienced with the new representative from this district, Hon. Jos. O. Boehmer of the Eagle Pass News-Guide and Fletcher Davis of the Hondo Anvil Herald. The train made a short stop at Paisano, the summit of the Sunset route, 5,074 feet above sea level, and Boehmer and Davis, immediately piled off, asserting that they would never again be that near heaven. They had to be thrown and hog-tied before they could be reloaded."—Alpine Guide. If it had not been for the impostment of these two men the Sunset train would probably have pulled out and left them there on the summit to enjoy indefinitely their nearest approach to the celestial world. As it was, both are well-known editors of Southwest Texas, and Boehmer has recently added to his distinctions and qualifications the further honor of being elected to the legislature. It would never do for a railroad corporation to seem discourteous toward such influential men as these.—Galveston News. It is a great thing to be in the hands of ones friends! Boehmer said we were in the hands of ourn, and now we know it was so!

"Just as I expected" epitomizes the result of Saturday's prohibition election. We expected prohibition to fail by a small majority, although we had hoped for a larger popular vote and, hence, a large majority against it. Had the 150,000 stay-at-homes, ninety-five percent of whom are anti voters, gone to the polls and voted, the proposition would have received such a blow that we would have heard no more of it for several years. As it is, Chairman Ball of the prohibitionists has called a conference at Austin for next Monday to lay plans for keeping up the agitation. Anti-prohibitionists had as well realize now as later that the contest must be fought over again as soon as it can be forced upon them, and should prepare for it. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" and we should never make the mistake again that was made in the last campaign. In the meantime, let all patriotic men remember and observe that it is the prohibitionists who are the aggressors, the forcers of this strife-breeding, hate-engendering strife, and let them keep their forces intact and stand together in their common interests. "United we will stand, divided we will fall." The past is behind us. Other battles loom in the not distant future. Keep a steady front and be ready for the onslaught.

No body loves a coward!

WHILE attending the meeting of the Southwest Texas Press and Commercial Association at Alpine, it was our pleasure to be the guest of the St. Stephen's Irrigation Co. This project will cost about a million dollars, and in Texas is second in magnitude only to our own Medina Irrigation Co. A dam is being constructed of concrete in a narrow gorge of the Alamo Creek and will create a lake some three miles long and two and a half miles wide with an average depth of 35 feet. It will be supplied with the storm waters of a drainage-area of 500-square miles. Immediately below the dam is a virgin valley of some 9000 acres that will be irrigated from the lake. The enterprise is being financed by the Orient Railroad and will be a valuable object lesson to this entire section as to the possibility of the conservation of storm waters, by means of dams, and its utilization for irrigation purposes on the fertile valleys below.

WHILE the wires were still hot with the returns coming in from the prohibition election, one Arthur W. Jones, in charge of prohibition headquarters at Dallas, rushed into print, through an interview in a Dallas paper, to pour his slimy slander over the fair name of Medina County by alleging that there had been fraud in the conduct of the election because there were polled thirteen more votes than there were poll tax receipts issued. To effectively give him the lie, interested parties looked up the records and found the following: Poll tax receipts issued.....1463 Exemptions to unders.....49 Overs who pay no poll tax.....167 Total voting strength.....1679 Votes polled.....1476 Votes short.....203 Will Mr. Jones seek to make amends for the wrong he has done Medina County? We seriously doubt it.

THE city of Alpine is an applicant for the location of the Woodman of the World Tuberculosis Sanitarium that has been authorized by the Head Camp of that order. Alpine is an ideal location for such an institution. Its altitude, climate and water could scarcely be improved upon any where in the world. And the beautiful scenery is conducive to cheerful thoughts and contented spirits, psychologic elements that are not to be ignored when seeking relief for sick and afflicted physical bodies. The committee having the matter in charge will make no mistake if it locates the Sanitarium in all-satisfying Alpine.

WRITING of the Alpine press convention, Joe Boehmer says in the Eagle Pass Guide: Austin Callan, of Del Rio, he of the Irish wit and silver bronzed tongue, told of the "Power and influence of the weekly press," incidentally mentioning the mountain peaks near Alpine where the angels reached down from heaven and tickled their feet. * * * Fletcher Davis, of Hondo, ably and eloquently told "How to make a local newspaper successful." Then the rain started—it was probably Callan's angels weeping because Davis was not up there to run their local paper.

THE Alpine Avalanche asked the delegates to the recent press convention in that city for an expression of their views on Alpine, and prints a symposium of eleven of them. From it we clip the following: Alpine is a beautiful place, blessed of the gods beyond compare in climate and scenery, and peopled by princes and princesses of hospitality. Had we not the blessing of an abode in heavenly Hondo we should be happy to be at home in all-satisfying Alpine.—FLETCHER DAVIS, Editor Hondo Anvil Herald.

GIVE YOUR LIVER A FAIR CHANCE

Stop Drugging It With Calomel; Dodson's Liver Tonic, a Vegetable Liquid Medicine, Works Without Harm

If your liver stops working it is a mistake to try to whip it into action with doses of calomel.

It's so much simpler and safer to cure your liver troubles with the pleasant tasting liquid, Dodson's Liver Tonic. You can get a large bottle at W. H. Windrow's drug store for fifty cents and every member of the family can use it. Dodson's Liver Tonic is an all-vegetable liver medicine that starts the liver to act within a few hours and has no bad after-effects. No restriction of your habits or diet necessary.

W. H. Windrow guarantees it to be a perfect substitute for calomel and will give you your money back if you are not pleased with the medicine.

Get a bottle instead of calomel next time.

"AND when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are; for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly".—Matt. 6:5,6.

THE Anvil Herald's home box gave an anti-prohibition majority of 31 votes; its town, a majority of 62 votes; its Justice of the Peace precinct, a majority of 81 votes; its county, a majority of 612 votes; and its state a majority of 6,491 votes. Verily is the Anvil Herald in the house of its friends and it might indulge a crow were it not for its innate modesty!

HONDO Davis went to Alpine last week and for four days forgot all about Hondo's hog pens. Judging from the good time he seemed to be having we believe he will get away from Hondo oftener hereafter.—Eagle Pass News-Guide. Chase the hog-pen! How could you be so cruel as to wake us from our dreaming!

Who hath a clear conscience has won the greater victory!

Foolhardy Snake Keeper.

The only fatal case of snake bite on record in the London Zoological gardens was directly due to the foolishness of the victim. He was in charge of the snakes, and coming in one morning with some friends began to boast of his power over the creatures and the extent to which they would submit to be played with by one whom they knew. This led to practical experiments, the overconfident keeper taking an Indian cobra from its comfortable sleeping place, and declaring he was a snake charmer proceeded to swing it about his head and play other tricks with it.

A native snake charmer would have known there was no more certain way to rouse the snake's temper than this, for the race abhors rough handling or sudden movement of any sort. The result of the exploit was that the keeper was bitten on the nose. He was hurried off to the hospital, but died in a few hours.

Escaped With His Life.

Who Was There That You Knew?

In the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Sherman F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—not with the help of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs. It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the War Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

OUR LIKE.

We raise our voice
And the storm
To say we like
Our weather warm!
We want no wild
Boreas breeze
To blow around
Our house and freeze
Us up and put
Us on the bum!
Our kitchen floor's
Linoleum!
And our sweet wife
Would burn with ire
If we asked her
To light the fire,
And our bare feet
On that cold floor—
Oh, gee! We raise
Our voice once more
Of the storm
To say we like
Our weather warm!

EASY.

"Captain," the beautiful girl asked, "how did you manage to stop that Central American revolution?"

"It was very simple," replied the naval hero. "I sent six marines ashore with orders to disperse the revolutionary army, and when it saw them coming it jumped on a mule and hurried into an adjoining republic."

Back to Their Studies.

Little jabs and punches,
Little breaks and sprains
Give the football player
Time to use his brains.

Both Wronged.

"You have deceived me," she complained. "You gave me to understand that you were rich."

"Well, you deceived me, too," he replied. "You caused me to believe that you would be brave and cheerful if it ever became necessary for us to get along on a small income."—Judge.

Sounded Good to Him.

"To rebuild the pyramid of Cheops under modern conditions would cost $100,000,000 and require the labor of 40,000 men for two years," said the professor.

"Gee! I'd like to be in on that contract when they do it!" exclaimed the Tammany contractor, feelingly.

A Social Device.

Mrs. Tay—I wonder why Mrs. Noorich employs none but elderly servants.

Mrs. Gay—Oh, that is to give strangers the impression that they have been in the family for many years.

Too Bad.

"How is your husband?"

"The doctor says he will just about live the week out."

"Oh, isn't that a shame? Is there nothing you can do?"

"What would you suggest, that I knock him on the head?"

HIGH FLYERS.

Agent—Let me sell you an incubator, Mr. Ryetop. You know chickens are going higher every day.

Farmer Ryetop—They can't go much higher than those I had in the old incubator. By Gee, the blamed thing blew up and the chickens went through the roof.

Reciprocity.

A winking song.
The front row winked
Back, fifty strong.

The Cleverest Thing.

"Don't you think my daughter very clever? She can do just what she likes with the piano."

"Hm; can she shut it, do you think?"—Pele Mele.

Matter of Preference.

"Luther Burbank is reported to be looking for a downless peach."

"According to some poets, a 'peach' with down on her cheeks is the only kind worth while."

Appropriate Guardian.

"What kind of a dog would you recommend for my henry?"

"I should recommend a setter."

MAKING AN EFFORT

It was in the serene moments after a metaphorical pat on the head from the president of the firm of which Kennedy was the branch manager for Chicago, that Kennedy, being at the time in an atmosphere unclouded by domestic complications, suggested that the president's wife, when she came through Chicago on her way east, should pass the night with the Kennedys instead of at a hotel. The president condescendingly approved the suggestion.

On his way home Kennedy began to feel qualms. It was not, however, until he had delivered himself of the fateful news and Mrs. Kennedy collapsed upon the nearest chair and gazed at him with moist eyes and the calmness of despair that he realized fully what a catastrophe he had precipitated.

"But she has millions in her own right!" Mrs. Kennedy gasped. "I can't have her here. She'd be so uncomfortable! For I can't have things that she is accustomed to having."

"Let her have them the way we're accustomed to having them, then," said Kennedy, rather truculently.

Mrs. Kennedy gave a little resigned sigh. "When is she coming?" she asked, faintly. "And how long is she going to stay?"

"She won't be here until after dinner tomorrow," Kennedy began.

He was interrupted by a hysterical shriek.

"Oh, of course, she'll have to come," Mrs. Kennedy admitted. "Don't worry, dear."

Kennedy's parting instructions to her the next morning were: "Now, don't you go bothering to have things fixed up any different. The old man's a good fellow and I guess his wife won't be so worse."

With a non-committal smile Mrs. Kennedy kissed him goodby, then dashed back into the house, intent upon doing all that mortal woman could to impress the coming guest with the fact that the Kennedy family could not and would not exist save in the lap of luxury.

She pulled down curtains in rooms into which the president's wife could not by any possibility have any excuse for prowling. These she persuaded Sarah to wash, while she herself swept and dusted and polished furiously. She bullied the laundry into returning the cherished best tablecloth. From her next-door neighbor and intimate friend she borrowed several small but beautiful Oriental rugs and a handsome silver individual breakfast service, from which Mrs. Turner was destined, while still reposing in bed, to take her morning meal with proper elegance in the spick and span guest room. When she had borrowed and begged and put in place everything she could think of that might give a touch of artless elegance, she sat down to make out the menus.

"I will have a nice luncheon and a nice dinner," she murmured, biting the end of her pencil. "I'll show her that even if we're not millionaires we know the right things."

The consequence of this high mental attitude was that she arranged on paper two meals of which Sarah was incapable.

"I'll have a caterer," was her prompt decision. She had gone too far to be balked by trifles now. "And I'll have a maid come tonight to do the waiting."

The next day was eminently successful, if a trifle breathless. By an imperceptible though determined effort, Mrs. Kennedy kept the guest circling about in an atmosphere of Oriental rugs, heavy silver and cut glass. The luncheon passed off without a hitch. Afternoon tea was served in perfect style. Kennedy, upon his arrival just before dinner, was incensed in his dinner coat without a murmur and was a proud object to his wife when the feat was accomplished.

The dinner was really a dream. Relieved of all anxiety as to material things, Mrs. Kennedy, who was an exceptionally good talker, was able to throw herself into the task of providing mental refreshment for her guest. Mrs. Turner beamed, praised and ate with dainty heartiness. Shortly after they left the table she fluttered upstairs, attended by the rented maid, to prepare for her departure.

She fairly radiated joy when she met her hostess at the foot of the stairs when she came down again. She took Mrs. Kennedy's two small hands in hers so tenderly that the action had almost the effect of a caress.

"Ah," she cooed; "I can never tell you what a treat you have given me. I shall never, never forget this day. The simplicity of it is the most wonderful thing I have ever seen. Such simplicity is in itself exquisite beauty. Henceforth I shall make my motto 'Plain living and high thinking,' for you have taught me the meaning of those words."

When Kennedy returned from escorting the too appreciative guest to the train his wife met him with a face on which there was a broad smile, though it still bore some traces of tears.

"Oh, Jimmie!" she gasped. "Wasn't it awful? And the funny part of it was that she was sincere! She really thought we were letting her take us 'just as we were.' And after the wild efforts I made."

Kennedy looked rather bewildered. "Did you make an effort?" he asked. "I didn't notice anything."

When you are hungry and want a quick meal call at Henderson's short order restaurant south of the depot and order what you want. What you want when you want it and as you want it is his motto.

Our attention has been called to an interview in Thursday's Light and Gazette in which Weather Observer Allen Buel reports the heaviest general rain since 1900 and says that reports from both north and south Texas give promise of the best yield since 1900. We can't imagine what kind of a pipe the gentleman has been hitting but we will be doubly surprised at the kind of news he has been handing out. We have heard nothing of a general rain or bumper crop from any other source so far, and are positive that Hondo has so far missed her share of both.

Considerable interest has been taken in base ball here this week. The Sabinal team came down Tuesday afternoon and were defeated by the local team by a score of 8 to 3. Sabinal's Juniors came down Wednesday and played two games with Hondo's Juniors, taking the morning game by a score of 8 to 1 and losing the afternoon game to Hondo by a score of 10 to 11. The small boys also lost two games at Devine the first of the week. A nine composed of four first-team players and five second nine boys went to Sabinal Thursday and, owing to bad umpiring, were defeated by a score of 5 to 4.

FOR SALE.—Three hundred and fifty seven-acres of fine farming land twelve miles south of Hondo. Seventy-five acres are in cultivation and every foot can be cultivated. Soil is black and light sandy. There is a five room house, two tenant house, large barn, fine well, windmill and large tub tank. Only a half a mile from a school and church and four miles from post office. This is a fine body of land, suitable for dividing up into smaller farms and is for sale at a reasonable price. For price, terms, etc., apply to either member of the Hondo Land Co.

Considerable excitement was caused about noon Monday by the blowing of the fire-alarm whistle. The Volunteer Fire Co. responded at once but by the time they could reach the scene of the fire with their apparatus people in the neighborhood of the fire had extinguished it with buckets. The fire originated from some unknown cause in a pile of boxes and rubbish in the back yard of the Hutzler confectionery. No loss of any consequence was sustained.

J. D. Burgin has been admitted to a partnership in the Hondo Land Co. and is ready for business. With H. B. Taylor and Mr. Fletcher to look after the field work and Blanche Davis looking after the advertising department, this company is exceptionally equipped to handle a real estate business. If you have lands for sale or if you are looking for a farm, ranch or town property see or write to some member of the company.

New Fountain Notes.

BY NARRATOR.
ED ANVIL HERALD:—
A big crowd turned out last Sunday to see the ball game between the Sturm Hill nine and the Vandenberg nine, at the latter's grounds. While the game was none of the best, it was excitingly observed and resulted in a score of 14 to 12 in favor of the home boys.

Some of the young folks very much enjoyed a party last Saturday night given by Miss Alvina Wiemers.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hartmann of Yancey were here visiting homefolks the latter part of last week.

The Muennink gin ginned its first bale of cotton for this season Tuesday. It was grown by H. F. Buss.

Local showers have fallen at places around this vicinity, but our burg remains dry and dusty while prospects for rain were promising on several occasions.

Now that the election is over and the majority of the voters (as citizens of a free country) are not in favor of prohibiting the liquor traffic, do I hope that our prohibition friends bye and bye will agree with us, that this, as a free country. "We shall not be deprived of our liberty" and be dictated to as to what we shall eat and drink, or that which we shall not. Though, I can well comprehend their feelings after rejoicing over the report (as the returns of the election were coming in) that the pros. were leading the anti by a majority of 15,000 votes. So bear in mind, that the chick shall not be slaughtered before the egg is hatched. July 27, 1911.

Notice.

The 4th and 5th of August will be celebrated in New D'Hanis as usual with the two nights' dancing at Sauter & Koch's hall. Music furnished by Theo. Artzt's famous band. There will also be base ball games on both days, and a premium paid to the winning team on the 4th.

Punishment

When Perkson let himself into the house that evening after having remained slightly longer than usual at the office he sniffed the air and detected a number of things. First there was anger. Then there was fear and grief, blended. In addition there was sympathy.

Perkson may perhaps have suspected the presence of anger from the manner of Mrs. Perkson's greeting, and the stern expression of her face. The fear and grief may have been deduced from the manner of little nine-year-old Carrie, who crept to his side and fondled one of his hands in a half-frightened and tearful manner until he swung her up and kissed her. The sympathy may have shown in the actions and expression of five-year-old Josie, who kept close to her older sister's side and gave her a loving squeeze at every opportunity. Altogether it seemed a very sad and distraught household.

Perkson tried to chase the baby behind a chair; but it would not chase. It just stood and looked at him. He buried his chin beneath Josie's ear and mumbled in her neck in the loving fashion peculiar to parents, and which never before had failed to throw her into spasms of laughter, but she took the mumbling in bored silence. He grasped Carrie and turning her upside down, made her kick the curtain pole above the double door. It produced never a struggle or a giggle from Carrie. He fired a bunch of jokes at Mrs. Perkson and she merely looked at him.

Perkson, discouraged, retired to his den. When the dinner bell rang he came out and took his place at the table, wearing his sealskin cap, his earmuffs, his overcoat, his galoshes, his mittens and his neckscarf.

"Have you got a chill?" asked Mrs. Perkson.

"That's what I've got," replied Perkson. "I never knew it to be so frosty before at this time of year." Then Perkson, having made his point, piled his winter clothing on a chair and repeated himself at the table.

"Joseph, you have got to give Carrie a good whipping," said Mrs. Perkson. "I have told her that you would, and you must."

Perkson jumped up from the table and went to the basement, returning presently with a club five feet long and about three inches in diameter. "Now," said he, "tell me what it is about."

"She is so careless that she doesn't pay the least attention to what she is about. I gave her 50 cents today and told her to go to the market and get a steak for dinner, and what do you suppose she did?"

"How many guesses may I have?"

"Now, don't be silly; this is a serious matter."

"Well, then, I seriously guess that she squandered a nickel, a half dime, the twentieth part of a dollar, for candy."

"No, she didn't. She laid the half-dollar down on the sidewalk while she buttoned the strap to her slipper, and then she went along to the market, and when she went back to look for it it was gone! I never heard of such carelessness."

"That was awful!"

"Are you going to whip her?"

"I am going to break her to pieces! Grrr!"

"Now, don't try to be funny. Children must be taught to keep their wits about them. Such carelessness is inexcusable."

"I know it. I have got to deal out several whippings tonight, though—sort of clean up the slate, you know."

"What are you talking about?"

"Well, I remember that a few weeks ago a grown-up girl went into a department store, and after looking at some goods, went out leaving a five-dollar hand-bag containing $10 in money lying on the counter. Because of the clerk's honesty, the purse and its contents were recovered, and the woman has never had a whipping for that."

"Well, that—"

"Another time, not so very long ago, a grown-up girl called at a friend's house and—see how similar this is to the tale of the half-dollar—her shoe coming untied just as she was starting for home, she put her purse on the steps while she tied her shoe. Then she went home, leaving her purse behind. Later on she accused her loving husband of having hidden her purse for a joke. That grown-up girl has never been whipped for it."

The Perksons sat toying with their food for a few moments in silence.

"Well," said Perkson, jumping to his feet. "I'll have to get it over with."

"Whip me first, Joseph," said Mrs. Perkson, with tears in her eyes as she came out and put her arms about his neck. "I feel that I have been very hard-hearted and thoughtless—and—cruel. I ought to be whipped."

"No one ought to be whipped," replied Perkson. "I would not bruise one of my babies for all the half-dollars that were ever minted, and you knew I wouldn't or you wouldn't have told me to."

"I—I guess you know me better than I know myself," said Mrs. Perkson, with a little catch in her throat.

A college education is the beginning of many a brilliant success—and failure.
